WAYNE CARRASCO

'Hip-hop Dancer and Artistic Director'

Wayne is a strong believer in quality over quantity and teaching people true science behind music and dance. Being trained personally under world renowned choreographer and director Lenny Len for over 4 years, Wayne's goal is to share the true flavor and style of Toronto hip-hop across the world to the next generation.

Credits include: Opened for/ Working with Drake, Rick Ross, Lady Gaga, Big Sean, Busta Rhymes, Kendrick Lamar, Nelly Furtado, Shaggy, Lloyd Banks, Nick Cannon, Terry 'Krnfx' Im, Kardinal Offishall, illScarlett, Queen of Hearts, Najjah Caliber, Karl Wolfe, T-Pain, LMFAO, Classified, Down With Webster, Simple Plan, Carly Rae Jepsen, Lil Twist, Cali Swag District, Lights, Cody Simpson, LMFAO, Rihanna, MuchMusic's BIG JINGLE, Z103.5's Summer Rush Concert, Ilite Tour, Youth Day Toronto, MuchMusic's Electric Circus, CBC, New.Music.Live, MTV CANADA, Global News, OMNI TV, YTV, Rogers TV, and much more!

There's a science behind music, dance and performing that has never properly been broken down and explained to the general public. Why we move a certain way, and why we feel certain emotions during moments. I'm here to teach the recipe. - Wayne Carrasco - Quality over Quantity

MIRANDA SOSNOWSKI

Miranda started taking dance classes when she was three. When her family moved to Prince George two years later, she decided to take a break and try other sports. However, nothing satisfied her like dancing did, so she rejoined at the age of eight and has been dancing ever since. Over the years Miranda started to take up multiple styles of dance, and trained in tap, acro, ballet, pointe, lyrical, hip hop, jazz, and contemporary. In 2015 she got the opportunity to represent Quesnel as senior stage observer in the Performing Arts B.C. provincial festival, and was asked to represent Prince George in 2016 as senior stage competitor but was unable to due to graduation. Miranda is currently enrolled in the registered nursing program at CNC, but continues to teach and choreograph at the studio, and loves to share her passion for dance with others.
